summary

I'm a goal oriented professional with a consistent record of exceeding performance expectations. Most recently I have been involved in digital transformations of large non-digital businesses to fulfil on their digital strategies resulting in extra revenue streams as well as increasing digital awareness throughout the business.

Those opportunities involved building high performance development and quality assurance teams from the ground up. Introducing processes and educating the business on how to become digital centric. I'm a strong believer in a flat management structure with minimal or no title as I believe that every individual brings something to the team regardless of their years of experience, education, gender or race.

I live by "open, honest and transparent" core values as I believe they are fundamental for any team to succeed.

My passion is still building - I spent my free time building software, restoring old motorcycles, renovating or building furniture.

employment

Head of Dev & QA @ Seven West Media, Sydney

12/2016-Current

Seven is a major Australian commercial free to air television network with the largest market share of viewers in Australia across traditional broadcasters.

I have been responsible to building development and quality assurance department as well as processes to deliver what at the time the largest digital undertaking from Seven – 7plus product.

Currently my department is the largest out of Product and Technology with 20+ individuals working on development of core services (microservices), platforms such as web, iOS, Android, HbbTV, AndroidTV, AppleTV with more platforms being investigated and developed as required.

Digital Development Director @ Pacific Magazines, Sydney

09/2015-12/2016

Pacific Magazines is leading publisher of Australia's bestselling magazines such as Better Homes & Gardens and nation's leading fashion brand – Marie Claire. I have joined Pacific Magazines to migrate their digital portfolio away from multiple outsourcing vendors, reconcile and build inhouse development team.

My team has delivered over 16 magazines websites all in a white label platform purpose build to manage Pacific's unique content. Also, as a diversification exercise – the business invested in several ventures that we delivered in-house – such as bhgshop.com.au, pepperleaf.com.au (home food delivery with recipes), BeautyCrew.com.au (cosmetics reviews and content).

Highlights

- All outsourced platforms were brought and delivered in-house.
- Pacific Mags continue to deliver great products based on our original platform.
